Introducing The Pavilion

An immersive, World' Fair-like center for healthy, inspired living that delivers a new "official story" to support the authentic YOU.

Our lives have been built around "the official story," aka the status quo. There's one about science, medicine, history, cosmology, and so forth. But what if that official story has been wrong, as we are now seeing? Then everything we've built our lives on, and even who we think we are, begins to wobble.

Medical science, for example, assumes bodies are chemical machines, ignoring the bioelectric systems proven to control growth and healing. Climate science focuses on carbon dioxide while ignoring the sun's electromagnetic variability. Energy policy chases fossil fuels while lightning delivers terawatts of power we don't try to harvest. We're living in an electric universe, and this isn't just about distant galaxies—it's about understanding the energetic reality of the cosmos, of diseases, and even the mechanics of how our own bioenergetic nature enables us interact with and literally shape the physical world around us.

Bethesda-based filmmaker, board-certified health practitioner, Black Belt, and paradigm shifter, Jim Grapek (BS Syracuse/MPS Cornell), has put together a visionary, commercially viable plan to help us move forward – a plan that the Stanford Research Institute (SRI) identified as perhaps our best hope for insuring a desirable future. That plan is embodied within The Pavilion.

The Pavilion* is all *Next Generation. Its Star Trek-like architecture, designed by internationally acclaimed architects Tayfun Terzi and BioGeometry™ founder, Dr. Ibrahim Karim, begins supporting your health as soon as you walk inside; no treadmills needed. In addition to introducing global EMF and wireless health solutions, The Pavilion's primary care Bio-Center features more effective therapies and cures for chronic illness, with 24/7 health support and flexible, affordable, medical cost-sharing health plans which can replace traditional insurance.

Engage and Be Inspired! In addition to delicious farm-to-table dining, a Learning & Arts Center boasting over 150 classes, and monthly TED-like "Transition Talks," The Pavilion features a community focused, 501c3 Catalyst! Life Sciences Center that will introduce a new, more accurate "official story" that supports The Pavilion's mission… in support of humanity. It will also showcase the latest apps, wearables, personal transportation gadgets, and today's relevant breakthroughs in health, consciousness, renewable energy, BioGeometry™, and more. Plus, the Catalyst! empowers people to make a difference – through its American Innovation & Entrepreneurs' program, and by connecting them with aligned, on-site "do-good" organizations such as The Environmental Working Group and Food & Water Watch.

To Develop The Pavilion, Grapek, who co-hosts the weekly Health Biz & Politics and Freedom Hub podcasts, brought together a world class team of pioneers, luminaries, and business leaders, to "have a conversation." The result was a Manifesto and a path forward. Included were Dr. Mark McClure, former Provost of the Capitol University of Integrative Health; global "healthy living" industry leader WTS International's Gary Henkin; Bill "the farmer" Eaton, Chairman of global food service/restaurant consulting leader Cini-Little International; Dr. Ibrahim Karim, internationally acclaimed architect, scientist, and founder of the science of BioGeometry™; John L. Petersen, futurist, and Transition Talks host, and nationally renowned health freedom attorneys Jim Turner and Betsy Lehrfield.

Now is the Time. Two feasibility studies show The Pavilion to be a transformative, viable business and "market maker." The concept is sound and the numbers work. With the official story collapsing, there's a growing, world-wide void that needs to be filled: A new story needs to be brought forward so we can begin healing, and building new, heart-centered, supportive, balanced communities. This is exactly what The Pavilion was designed for – from the ground up. To learn more, visit ThePavilionCenter.com or reach out to Jim at JHGrapek@ThePavilionCenter.com.
